

Clark County Law Library Shepardizing® with Lexis Advance®

Shepardizing® with Lexis Advance® allows you to check the status of a case by generating a report that includes cases, statutes, and other resources that cite your case as an authority.

To Shepardize® a citation, type the citation in the search box at the top of the screen and open your case from the list of search results. Shepard's® information will appear on the right side of the page. Click linked information listed or Shepardize® this document to view additional information.

To Shepardize® a case previously viewed during your research session, click the Shepard's® tab in the History session of the main research page and click on the case you would like to Shepardize® from the list of cases viewed.

The Shepard's® Signals, appearing at the top of the screen next to the case citation, and in the Shepard's® box to the right of the case, provide an instant visual indicator of the case's history and treatment. The signals are explained in the next column.

Shepard's® Case Summaries and cases may be printed out, saved to thumb-drives, or e-mailed by using the icons found in the top right corner of the screen.

Warning: Negative treatment is indicated
The red signal indicates that citing references contain strong negative history or treatment of a case (for example, overruled or reversed).

Warning: Negative treatment is indicated for statute

The red exclamation point indicates that citing references contain strong negative treatment of a Shepardized™ section (for example, the section may have been found to be unconstitutional or void).

Questioned: Validity questioned by citing refs.

The orange signal indicates that citing references contain treatment that questions the continuing validity or precedential value of a case because of intervening circumstances, including judicial or legislative overruling.

Caution: Possible negative treatment indicated

The yellow signal indicates that citing references contain history or treatment that may have significant negative impact on your case (for example, limited or criticized by).

Positive treatment indicated

The green signal indicates that citing references contain history or treatment that has a positive impact on your case (for example, affirmed or followed by).

Citing refs. with analysis available

The blue signal indicates that citing references contain treatment of your case that is neither positive nor negative (for example, explained).

Citation information available

The blue "I" Signal indicates that citing references are available for a case, but the references do not have history or treatment analysis (for example, law review citations).
